REUTERS INSTITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF JOURNALISM

UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD

Oxford Perspectives

Future Leaders in News

Focused course for:

- Aspiring newsroom leaders
- Newly-appointed newsroom leaders
- Journalists or media managers resuming a leadership role

Learn and discuss with experienced media leaders in our intimate Oxford setting.

- ✓ Gain insights about your audiences - and learn how to act on them
- ✓ Develop your knowledge of project and people management
- ✓ Discover techniques to promote innovation and change
- ✓ Create strategies to address your management challenges
- ✓ Build your network

Workshop leaders

Dr Rasmus Kleis Nielsen
Director, Reuters Institute; Professor of Political Communication, University of Oxford; Editor, Reuters Institute Digital News Report

Dr Alexandra Borchardt
Director of Leadership Programmes, Reuters Institute; Former Managing Editor, Süddeutsche Zeitung, Germany; Lecturer in Leadership, Technical University of Munich

Anita Zielina
Visiting Fellow, Reuters Institute; Former Chief Product Officer, Neue Zürcher Zeitung Media Group, Austria

DATE
29-30 November

COST
£995 per person
(includes lunch and a dinner in a University of Oxford college)

VENUE
The Reuters Institute for the Study of Journalism, 13 Norham Gardens, Oxford, OX2 6PS

REGISTER
Send a brief bio by 12 November to oxfordperspectives@politics.ox.ac.uk

Full programme online:
reutersinstitute.politics.ox.ac.uk/future-leaders-news